BACKGROUND

Ben makes sure we go above and beyond for our clients.

Ben's rounded background in real estate investment, asset feasibility, construction management, project management, and financial analysis allows Avara to actively represent the role of the project from the Owner's perspective. Ben is a rounded graduate of the University of Washington, with education in Finance, Commercial Real Estate, and Construction Management. Ben truly cares about providing a great experience for our clients, and provides oversight and support to ensure each of our projects runs smoothly.
